

Luchino Visconti's The Leopard Turns 50 This Year

Julian Sachs (June 07, 2013)

Casa Italiana Zerilli-Marimò in New York celebrates this anniversary with an exhibition of beautiful and unseen photographs from the set of the film shot by Ralph Toporoff. On view June 2 - June 19, 2013. Mon-Fri 10-5 An interview with Ralph Toporoff, on the occasion of the exhibition.

An exhibition of photographs by Ralph Toporoff [1] taken on the set of the film. Also on view, two original posters of the film, courtesy of Posteritati [2].

Curator: Maria Politano

Co-curator, Andrea De Fusco

The opening will include the screening of A Dying Breed: The Making of The Leopard, an hour-long documentary featuring interviews with Claudia Cardinale, screenwriter Suso Ceccho D'Amico, Rotunno, filmmaker Sydney Pollack, and many others, produced by the Criterion Collection [3], followed by a Q&A with Ralph Toporoff.

Source URL: <http://ftp.iitaly.org/magazine/events/reports/article/luchino-viscontis-leopard-turns-50-year>

Links

[1] <http://www.rtoporoff.com/>

[2] <http://www.posteritati.com/>

[3] <http://www.criterion.com/films/790-the-leopard>